SYNOPSIS

Tory Truman, musician and wildly phobic Los Angeles therapy patient, finds inspiration in a zany paranoid talk radio show and suddenly realizes that his nightmares have become haunted by a lusty ghost with an icy taste for “revenge served cold”.

Bedlam and hilarity ensues as the insatiably vengeful phantom, hell bent on a shockingly sinister retribution against her own killer, maniacally manipulates tormented Tory into springing her deranged, murderous ex-husband from an insane asylum and lures them both to Alaska, on a madcap journey to her personal purgatory.

Ensnared in the insidious, escalating melee, with his blood running cold, Tory must confront his worst fears in a sidesplitting struggle for survival against demented doctors, a persistent poltergeist, a marauding madman and comical cannibal hog farmers in this uproarious, politically incorrect LOL “Funny Horror, Scary Comedy.

LOG LINE

A haunted jury foreman, fraught with extreme phobias and nightmares must conquer his personal demons or die trying when he is possessed from beyond the grave by a malevolent ghost, who compels him to free her killer from the asylum so she may orchestrate her chilling revenge.

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

I am incredibly thrilled to share our feature film, "Frozen Tundra" with all of you. Whether it be movies, music or magic, should following your dreams run counter to the flow of the establishment, a trial by fire invariably ensues.

Luckily, no one got scorched however we did wind up with a hot little Horror-Comedy flick that is certain to become a cult favorite for the genre's substantial fan base.

For an indie filmmaker, manifesting a feature motion picture is a highly daunting challenge. However, with faith, perseverance and hard work, complimented by the cast's uncanny characterizations, this riotous screenplay developed into an exceptionally enthralling and significant cinematic experience worthy of contention.

Crafting a provocative, yet, commercial movie that delivers Horror and Comedy simultaneously is a rather tricky endeavor, however, we are dubbed "Magic Motion Pictures", for a reason. We track the lucrative bloody footprints of top grossing indie movies such as, "Scary Movie", "Evil Dead", "Zombieland" and "Cabin In The Woods", which have generated over $600,000,000 in domestic and foreign sales.

When we embarked on this epic endeavor, our aspiration was to produce a globally marketable film that would engage, as well as bestow the audience with the precious, cathartic gift of laughter; in effect, compelling the bizarre realities of the World to vanish, albeit briefly...just like magic. Poof!

Based on our successful initial test screenings, we have achieved our objective and confident that the spectators will be thrilled and their collective funny bones will be tickled.

I am especially proud of the exemplary work our scrappy team of actors and crew accomplished with this film. From sunny California, up the West Coast to Canada and finally culminating in the awe inspiring Alaskan wilderness, creating this movie provided an awakening of our senses and warming of hearts that will leave an indelible memory with us all.

When shooting commenced on the set, our fearless cast and crew shared abundant hysterical moments and hearty laughter as each of the hilarious, quirky characters were revealed to our rolling cameras.

Our talented troupe of actors enthusiastically took their portrayals to the edge, and over the top, to illuminate and breath life into the variety of inhabitants who dwell in the outrageous land of "Frozen Tundra".

I am tremendously delighted to present our new motion picture for your viewing enjoyment on the magical silver screen.

Tony MacLaren

Hollywood California - 2016

B.D. has starred in "Dracula The Impaler", "Nasty Piece Of Work" and "Hollywood Sex Wars" and is now starring in "Frozen Tundra", playing the devious and diabolical Dr. Prawnfellow.

An accomplished character actor, he has graced many studio sets with his out-of-the-box, outlandish portrayals of sinister doctors, madmen, monsters, gang members, ghouls, teachers, killers, thugs, bikers, demons, priests and countless others.

Mr. Freakin has been a featured player in a variety of music videos produced for superstar artists, and which were aired on M.T.V. worldwide.

B.D. is elated to be starring in Frozen Tundra's ensemble cast.

CREW

Director

Tony MacLaren

The magical Mr. MacLaren has directed 2 feature films, various documentaries and a plethora of short films, music videos, magic videos, theatrical stage performances and live illusion shows over the span of his illustrious and enigmatic career.

Curiously, motion picture pioneer, Georges Melies, was also a magician. Synchronicity perhaps?

Simultaneously directing, producing, writing and starring in "Frozen Tundra", initially deemed a feat of magic, ultimately proved perfectly possible and culminated with a stronger, savvy filmmaker.

Tony, one of the MacLaren triplets, proudly shared the production process with siblings Anthony and Merrill. "Frozen Tundra" is the palpable result of this potent family connection and collaboration.

Mr. MacLaren loves to conjure his tall tales, direct the actors and proceedings while creating indelible audience experiences for the whole world to enjoy.

Tony is busy directing and shooting the next Zen Master film on location in Europe and the Middle East. Cheers! :^}

Producer

William Munchrath

Konnichiwa! The moment William read MacLaren's hilarious "Frozen Tundra" screenplay, he recognized its commercial potential and commenced setting the stage to produce the film with Zen Master Productions.

Due to various unforeseen complications that wreaked havoc with production scheduling, the filmmaking process took significantly more time and ingenuity than initially anticipated.

Transporting the cast and crew to the various locations in Alaska was a logistical nightmare but, after a litany of trials and tribulations as well as the unwavering co-operation and organization of the director and crew, we were triumphant.

Now with the post and 5.1 sound mix complete, we are ready to go to market and present our film to the world.

William wishes to thank the director and each of the fine actors for their marvelous contributions in the making of this film. Ahh so!

Writer

Tony MacLaren

In Canada as a child, Tony devoured numerous sci-fi/ horror novels and fervently gorged on film of all genres. Obsessed and ambitious, he conspired to educate himself in the 'magical art' of creative writing.

Tony composed countless short stories during those early years and manifested the spooky suspense series, "Paranoid Theater", which aired on late night radio.

A musical lyricist, he penned a large library of songs, which were made into Records, CDs, Music Videos and Movie Soundtracks.

Tony conceived all the scripted dialogue for his TV and live performances of magic, music, illusions and mentalism performances.

He has created over 30 feature length motion picture screenplays and treatments and has amassed a collection of 40 + TV series and documentaries.

Mr. MacLaren continues to conjure copious characters and cunning circumstances to convey a captivating cinematic concoction.

Tony is elated to continue with his magical storytelling journey and looks forward to sharing his whimsical wordsmithery with you.

CREW

MUSIC

Tony MacLaren

Hailing from an accomplished Canadian music lineage, Tony picked up at the tender age of 6 to jam along with the rousing bluegrass music his father and uncles were shredding on.

A prolific talent, Tony composed and performed music that was transcendent of his years, infusing, Jazz, Rock, Pop, Progressive, Metal, Classical, Fusion, Bluegrass, Country, Folk, and World music into his notable array of styles.

Mr. MacLaren toured the world as theatrical frontman, lead guitarist, lead vocalist, composer and music director for several popular recording groups. Tony also performed as ace studio guitarist on numerous Records, CD's, TV and Motion Picture Scores.

A number of celebrated musicians performed on Tony's CD's and the movie soundtrack including, Greg Bissonette, Brian Bromberg, Kim Stone, Dave Carpenter, Steve Reid, M.B. Gordy and Kirk Covington.

Creating mellifluous music and lyrics for "Hocus Pocus", "Bamboo Forest" and his multifaceted solo artist career, has primed Tony to compose and produce the cool atmospheric music score you hear and feel in "Frozen Tundra".

The MacLaren

Editor

Merrill MacLaren

Merrill, the "quiet one" of the MacLaren triplets, has performed as chief editor for various feature films, music videos, short films, concerts, cooking shows, and magic shows over the span of his intriguing career.

He relishes hunkering down in his man cave to edit film as well as execute the color correction, keys, stabilizers, FX, dialogue, noise reduction, atmospheres, Foley and other technical tweaks requisite for a well-hewn, heart-stopping, knee slapping full length feature film.

Merrill possesses a mesmerizing rhythm and style, mashing up long slow cuts with high-energy rapid paced action and movement to create visually stimulating and chronically compelling viewing experiences for the audiences.

His color pallet is bright and vivid, reminiscent of Technicolor versus the dated bleached bypass patina.

He considers "Frozen Tundra" to be his best editing work to date and looks forward to making more marvelous movie magic with Zen Master Productions.

Triplets!

Cinematographer

Anthony MacLaren

Anthony the "eccentric one" of the triplets, has a passion for capturing all the cinematic bounty his iris can focus on. His visual palette presents the perfect foil for brother Tony's directorial vision and brother Merrill's processing magic and sculpting in post.

Anthony has shot a myriad of feature films, music videos, magic shows, tutorials, short films and live shows; and, is ecstatic to be fully exploiting the craft that compels him.

Working aside his director brother, Tony, was exhilarating. He seemed to telepathically "read my mind" as the blocking and camera moves were filmed.

A steady-cam wizard, he can film whether sprinting up and down stairs, dashing through woods, scaling or skiing mountain tops, breaching the beach, in moving vehicles, or while slowly circling the actors on a bounding boat upon the swirling sea.

Anthony is filming the next Magic Motion Pictures film in locals such as Egypt, Turkey, Italy, Croatia, Greece, Scotland, Ireland, France and Belgium.

ABOUT

Frozen Tundra is a quirky mash up of “funny horror and scary comedy”, combining over the top humor with B movie thrills to concoct a delicious feast for both seasoned horror fans and campy comedy lovers.

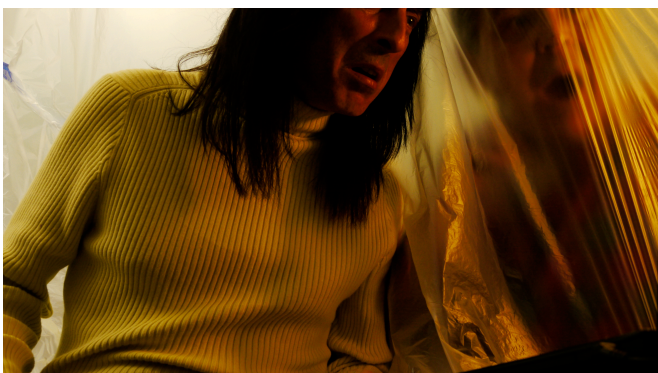

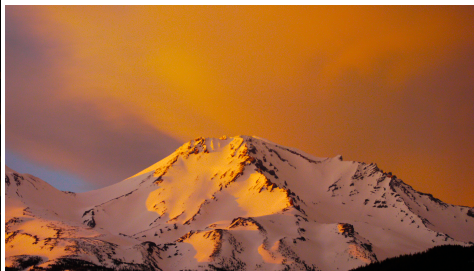

This debut feature from Tony MacLaren and Zen Master Productions brings a fresh and exciting twist to the genre, by virtue of the multitude of laughs and shocks elicited from the unsuspecting audience.

Producing a feature movie, shot in multiple majestic locations, on an independent budget is an almost insurmountable task; however, Zen Master Productions accepted the challenge and crafted a highly contagious LOL, sidesplitting film that has exceeded everyone’s expectations.

The MacLaren Triplets:

Writer/director/musician, Tony MacLaren, cast his magical spell on the film, in addition to composing, producing and recording the mystical haunting score. Exquisitely shot by director of photography, Anthony MacLaren and masterfully edited by Merrill MacLaren, the mysterious MacLaren triplets have delivered an impressive film that will entertain audiences and critics alike. Curiously, the MacLaren triplets have never been seen in the same room at once.

Zen Master Productions conspired to assemble a stellar cast featuring infamous mysterian, Tony MacLaren as the ultra phobic; the electrical Bill Von Claire as the bloody murderer; John McCafferty, star of many movies and TV series, as the talent agent; the red hot award winning Chantal Boccaccio, playing a double role as the insatiable Dr. Prelo and the wild Hog Lady; the remarkable talents of veteran character actor, B.D. Freakin; and, newcomer sexy Halszka Kuza, as the ghost wife.

EARLY REVIEWS

“Frozen Tundra is the most unique movie I have ever seen and I’ve seen a lot.

MacLaren’s skilled directing and style is reminiscent of David Lynch, Terry Gilliam and Robert Altman.

The camera loves the intrepid star Tony MacLaren, who achieves a curiously understated performance as the terrified phobic musician who is surrounded by the hilariously over the top characters.

The humorous villain, played by Bill Von Claire is a character you will never forget and the ghost, played by the lovely Halszka Kuza provides plenty of sexiness and scares.

I suspect that Frozen Tundra will be a sleeper film that will take everyone, young and old, by surprise.”

Carl Mazzocone - Movie Producer: Shade, Boxing Helena, Texas Chainsaw 3D, Leatherface, the Tortured, Courage.

“A raucous and riveting revelry!

Frozen Tundra is an unabashedly inappropriate, unrelenting thriller wrapped in a brilliantly executed dichotomy of quirky, stylized art house and gritty neo-noir.

This campy gem both terrifies and tugs at the heartstrings, while dishing out a tantalizing feast of grand-scale panoramic cinematography and a bold, original music score that at times, hits such high notes, borders on genius.

Akin to a saunter down a carnival midway, the audience gorges on a delicious composite of exaggerations: chromatic landscapes, a cacophony of caricatures and abundant macabre machinations, served-up with a juicy side of unbridled icy wit.

Frozen Tundra hooks in the first scene, compelling the viewer on an unpredictable keystone chase through the Pacific Northwest to the frigid ice fields of Alaska, never betraying its direction.

Sometimes violent, often hilarious, the awe-struck and agape spectator rides the razor of abject horror and sidesplitting laughter. Frozen Tundra is a delightfully wicked little film with a merciless and ribald sense of humor that rarely takes itself seriously, but when it does...it acutely maims.

A gluttonous indulgence for anyone with a palate for pulp and a penchant for the preposterous!”
